

The business has no assets or liabilities, as the business is a sole trader, where he does the work for the client on his personal computer which he already owned before.